Teamwork creates a synergy by utilizing multiple parties or entities contributing towards a common goal. Miller has teamed up with several large insurance companies to create the best possible coverage, service, and pricing for you.

Our clients utilize our financially strong insurance companies for the following purposes:

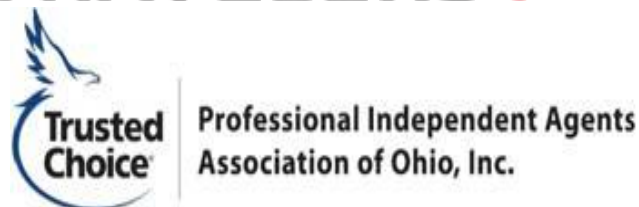

- To keep businesses in business. We have done that for real businesses, in the real world, that have experienced real catastrophes.
- To put families back in their homes. We have done that for family's whose homes have been destroyed. We have done this for real people in real life.
- To repair damaged cars, or pay you the money needed to replace them when they are beyond repair.
- To replace much needed income when a family member is lost. We have done this in real life, for real people, with real money.
